Solutions :

We got this cipher to decode.

Searching on google about “Et tu, Brute?” and we find that it’s a query of Caesar. But it’s not Caesar cipher, we know that Caesar was killed by a dagger, searching on google about “Dagger Cipher” and we find it. Decoding the cipher and we get the flag.

A screenshot of a web browser window. The address bar shows "noisetechmicrowaves.com" and an "OPEN" button. The page title is "Results". The main content area shows a search result for "RIFTCTFBONJOURELLIOT". The result is a Cisco advertisement with the text "Une solution révolutionnaire à prix mini. Optimisez vos capacités de réunion tout en réduisant les investissements avec les solutions pour petits espaces Cisco Huddle." and a button "En savoir plus". To the right of the search result is a "DAGGERS' ALPHABET DECODER" tool. It has a section "DAGGERS' ALPHABET SYMBOLS (CLICK TO ADD)" with a grid of 26 symbols. Below that is a section "DAGGERS' ALPHABET CIPHERTEXT" showing the decoded cipher text: "RIFTCTFBONJOURELLIOT".
